black vinyl in matte cardboard sleeve with print in black & copper ink. limited edition 118 copies. this lp includes an mp3-download-code. recorded and mixed at qualia by holotrop. mastered by eric heyde. layout by salt. release date: 15.sept.2020

dark ambient activist holotrop returns to raubbau after his 2017 offering „dead bird calling“ - and again he fathoms the darkest and dooziest realms of his art. his nihilism seems almost prophetic considering the course of the world, a world which is literally in flames! replete with philosophical references, „manifeste de l'antinatalisme“ conjures up a truly dystopian vision of the world. this lp is a sinister swan song to consumerism, eternal growth and progress, a eulogy for humanity as such.

and yet, there's a sense of irony in the fact that holotrop puts across his message in the most refined musical way, a subtly complex approach he has developed in recent years, a versatility that enables him to make his statement as simple and concise as it is: immersive synth drones lure the listener to the edge of the abyss, pounding beats send him into the vortex of despair.

better to never have been born!
